

Entune FAQ

What is Entune?

Entune™ is a full spectrum hemp-derived cannabidiol (CBD) oil square that's designed to deliver CBD to the skin. Along with full spectrum hemp extract, Entune delivers other botanical ingredients to the skin, including white willow bark extract, cat's-claw extract, and black pepper extract.

How much CBD is in Entune?

Entune provides 2 milligrams of hemp-derived CBD oil per square.

How do I use Entune?

Apply one Entune transdermal square to the desired area of the body. Entune can be left in place for up to 24 hours. It can be applied to any area of the skin, including the underside of the arm, the inner thigh, or the spine near the base of the neck. Be sure to periodically rotate the application site.

What are cannabinoids?

Cannabinoids are diverse chemical compounds that are naturally present in plants such as hemp.

What is full spectrum CBD oil?

Full spectrum CBD oil contains CBD along with other compounds that are naturally present in the hemp plant in naturally occurring proportions. Compounds commonly found in hemp extract include terpenes, carbohydrates, fatty acids, and a variety of cannabinoids.

What if I experience skin discomfort or irritation?

While Entune is made with a dermal-approved copolymer adhesive and is latex-free, skin irritation is always a possibility with any topical application. When using Entune for the first time, it is a good idea to test in an inconspicuous area to see how your skin reacts. If skin discomfort or sensitivity occurs, discontinue use on the affected area. If the reaction persists, it is best to consult with a doctor.

Who can use Entune?

Entune is recommended for adults age 18 and older.

Isagenix does not recommend the use of Entune during pregnancy or while nursing. As with any Isagenix product or system, it is always best to consult with your doctor prior to beginning the use of Entune.

Is there THC in Entune?

The full spectrum hemp-derived CBD oil used in Entune is tested to ensure that there is less than 0.3% THC present.

Why can't I order CBD oil in some states?

While the 2018 Farm Bill removed some of the federal restrictions on the sale of hemp and CBD, some states continue to impose their own regulations. The regulatory environment in certain states has made the legal status of CBD containing products unclear. Isagenix always wants to operate in full compliance with the law and therefore has chosen to not make its CBD oil available to residents of these states. If other companies sell CBD containing products in these states, they may be doing so at the risk of legal action against the company and possibly their customers.

